DEDICATION

The class of 1957 takes great pride and pleasure in dedicating the 1957 Towers to Mr. J. Raymond Sheriff in acknowledgement of his success as Dean of the College of Commerce. We will long remember all he has done to assist in both our curricular and extra-curricular activities, Mr. Sheriff is more than the Dean, he is a friend who has never forgotten that the student as an individual is an important concept. There are not enough words to adequately express our gratitude but we hope that this dedication will in some way show our appreciation for his efforts. May God keep him steadfast in his beliefs and works.

LEWIS TOWERS

PROLOGUE

The 1957 Towers presents Commerce life at Loyola. Even though it is not possible to present the entire picture, we are certain that your college life will continue to live on within the pages of this annual. Through the past four years the doors of Lewis Towers have opened for you many new experiences, acquaintances, and friendships. Now, in a short while, these doors will close behind you, leaving only the memories of your days at Loyola. Thus the Towers captures in words and pictures these memories so that they may not fade. We now invite you to turn the page and relive the days when Lewis Towers meant your life as a Loyola Commerce Student.

ADMINISTRATION

Very Rev. James F. Maguire, S. J.

Before coming to Loyola, Father Maguire, our 20th president, was for six years the president of Xavier University. He is a native of Chicago and a graduate of St. Ignatius High School. We are honored to have Father Maguire as president and are certain that his presence here will mean a great physical expansion and cultural improvement for Loyola.

Rev. Jeremiah J. O'Callaghan, S. J.
Executive Vice-President
Mr. Thomas F. Hawkins
Vice-President and Business Manager

Father O'Callaghan has served as the chairman of the Philosophy Department, Executive Secretary of the Alumni Association and Academic Vice-President. He received his Ph.D. from the Medieval Institute at the University of Toronto.

Mr. Hawkins, who received his CPA at Northwestern, is the Business Manager for Loyola. He is also the chairman of the Mandel Loan Fund Grants Committee.

As the recently appointed Dean of Students, Mr. McCloskey is the Chairman of the Committee on Student Activities and Welfare and Moderator of the Loyola Union. It is through his office that all student activities are coordinated in the most beneficial manner to the student body and the University.

Mr. Harry L. McCloskey
Dean of Students

Miss LeBlanc, as Dean of Women, is the Secretary of the committee on Student Activities and Welfare, the Foreign Student Advisor, Director of the Women's Dorm and Moderator of the Coed Club and Intra Sorority Committee. But above all she acts as an advisor to all the Coeds in the University.

Miss Mariette LeBlanc
Dean of Women

Mr. Sheriff, a native of Cheyenne, Wyoming, has been Dean of the College of Commerce since 1949. He received his undergraduate education at Notre Dame University, a MA from Northwestern University, and his JD from Loyola. Except for a leave of absence during World War II, when he served in the Army Air Force with the rank of Major, Mr. Sheriff has been at Loyola University since 1925. The achievements of the College of Commerce are due in a great part to Dean Sheriff's efforts toward the constant improvement of our education.

Mr. J. Raymond Sheriff
Dean, College of Commerce

Pictured below is the staff of Room 306. It is only through them that the College of Commerce and the University College are able to function so well. Their's is a job that cannot be calculated in hours of work. They not only have the duty of handling the correspondence and student files for both the colleges but they also serve the students and help solve any of their problems that arise. Their help to the students and to the University is immeasurable and their cordial attitude enlightening. To them —our heartfelt thanks for a special job done so well.

The Dean's Staff: Shirley Dillman, Beverly Chandler, Manetta Calkins, Rosellen Perry, Donalda MacLean.

FACULTY

The College of Commerce, in accordance with its main objectives: to provide a sound general education in accordance with the objectives and traditions of Loyola University, to give a general business education to all students, to provide a specialized training in one field of business, is divided into five major departments.

The Department of Business Law provides the student with a knowledge of the various branches of Commercial Law. This department develops the mind and analytical skills of the student by the case method so that he will be able to recognize in his later business life a legal problem and have some concept of its solution in terms of law. It is not the aim of the course to develop students to be lawyers or act as such. It is more important that they be able to recognize a legal problem so that proper steps may be taken at the inception to protect their legal rights and prevent unnecessary losses.

Recognizing the need for qualified personnel in the Accounting profession, this department has striven to maintain the highest standard of education. Its basic objective has been to familiarize the student with approved methods and afford adequate preparations for C.P.A. examinations, while orientating him to the other fields of Commerce. This department presents courses in theory, practice, managerial techniques, costs and taxation. Accounting has become such an integral part of today's business that a knowledge of it is a must for the modern day businessman.

THE ACCOUNTING DEPARTMENT: Mr. Adam P. Stach, Mr. Richard F. Kusek, Mr. Alexander Eulenberg, Mr. Thomas J. McCracken, Mr. Robert A. Meier, Acting Chairman.

THE BUSINESS LAW DEPARTMENT: Mr. John A. Zvetina-Chairman, Mr. John D. O'Malley.

The Department of Economics and Finance is organized as one department, but it functions as two separate fields of concentration. Because the development in any specialized field in commerce is dependent upon its supply of analytical reasoning from an economic point of view, this field is the foundation which makes way for an understanding of any phase of the business world. In addition, its advance courses give the students a more comprehensive and operative understanding of economy. This knowledge is an integral part in the student's preparation for the professional world and will assist him in practically any field he may choose.

The Department of Management, through its teaching staff, is a very progressive department. Its objectives are: to develop ability to make decisions on the higher levels of management authority and responsibility; cultivation and application of the understanding that when management relates itself to man, human values and spiritual values come before material values; and cultivation of the understanding that only when virtues of charity, unselfishness and justice set straight the hearts of men will the minds of men set straight the world of business.

THE ECONOMICS-FINANCE DEPARTMENT: Standing: Mr. Robert N. Taaffe, Rev. Theodore Purcell, S. J., Dr. Joseph O. Englet, Mr. Alfred S. Oskamp. Seated: Rev. Raymond C. Jancauskas, S. J., Dr. Helen C. Potter, Dr. Theodosi A. Mogilnitsky-Chairman, Dr. Sylvester M. Frizol.

The Department of Management not only stresses intellectual development but also encourages participation in extra-curricular activities for through these the student will understand the human and the social forces in the operation of business enterprise.

The Department of Marketing, through the addition of new courses and the constant increase in enrollment, is one of the outstanding departments in the university. Marketing as a field has a wide variety and diversification of interests from which a student may choose. The jobs available are so varied and offer such unlimited opportunities that they appeal to any student whose interest lie in the field of business. The department is organized in such a way as to instill into the student the ability to make the transition from the storehouse of knowledge to the area of action.

The students of Marketing are taught to become Marketing executives who can deal with policy problems and make decisions; who analyze conditions and trends and make satisfactory recommendations as to appropriate action. This is accomplished by training the students in the study of marketing research, the history of marketing, and problems of distribution.

THE MANAGEMENT DEPARTMENT: Dr. Peter T. Swanish-Chairman, Dr. Walter H. Peterson, Mr. Joseph V. McCullough.

THE MARKETING DEPARTMENT: Dr. Hugh A. Weiss, Mr. Lloyd G. Allen, Dr. Kenneth B. Haas-Chairman, Mr. Ralph L. Wagner.

James A. Sebesta, President

"Sebbie" is a perfect example of excellence in a college student. In his four years of college he has proven himself to be one of the outstanding student leaders at Loyola. In addition to his activities Jim has also maintained a high academic average.

Edward J. Walsh, Vice-President

"Big-Ed" had his college life interrupted with a two year stretch in the Army, spending most of that time in Alaska. Since returning to Loyola, Ed has been one of the most active people in student affairs and student government, holding many offices in various organizations.

George F. LaBuda, Secretary-Treasurer

"Frenchie" is another of the outstanding leaders at Loyola. Highly popular, he has gained a reputation as one of the most active workers in school activities. George has been highly active in many organizations and a leader in each.

SENIOR CLASS

Once again, this June, several hundred Loyolans will don caps and gowns and file down the center aisle of the Granada Theatre to receive that long-sought-for piece of sheepskin. It is almost incredible that such a comprehensive span could pass so quickly. Yet these were months filled with learning: all types of learning. Some came from text books, some from the people around them, and some from within themselves. They were taught not only Accounting and Economics and English, but probably more important lessons, i.e., learning to get along with others, and learning to live with God. Everyday brought new experiences, new fields to be conquered, people to meet and things to do. They grew in wisdom academically, socially and spiritually.

Pictured on the following pages are the people who are going to take that short but all-important walk down that carpeted path this June. If you were to ask, most of them would reply that it seems that it was only last September that they registered for the first time. The years of college pass quickly: all too quickly. What remains now is the future with all its mysteries and surprises.

And now, as they make ready to step out into the business world, let us remind them that the world will look upon them and judge them as Loyolans. Let us pray that they will never forget this and that they will always be able to uphold the tradition of Loyola Men.

JUNIOR CLASS

It is always a difficult task to enumerate specific activities that an individual class has accomplished throughout the school year because it is the class duty to foster the activities of the Council that will benefit the College as a whole. However, the class held a party on February 1st that was one of the outstanding social successes of the year. This party was well attended and a good time had by all.

One of the major projects of the class has been the possibility of bringing to Loyola "Who's Who in American Colleges". If this project is successful, this publication will bring to the students the possibility of national recognition for their scholastic and extra-curricular activities.

This class has been outstanding in its academic, social and religious achievements and their coming senior year promises to be even more beneficial.

Pictured above is the beauty spot of Loyola, the Lewis Tower Lounge. In this den of smoke, stale air and coffee cups can be found the typical student. The basement of the "Tall Tower of Mr. Lewis" is also the scene of major politics where different factions attempt to out fox each other by applying the principles of Politicking 101. Our lounge, together with tables, lack of chairs and excess litter, is the scene of many educational classes. Held here are the many courses in the art of cutting class, the skill of hearts, the science of Pinochle, and the translation of Bridge — with an occasional break for a sandwich. Yes, this is our lounge, and judging by the amount of time we spend there we show that we appreciate even this.

The Sophomore year is an important one for at its end the student must select his major field of concentration. In line with this, a Sophomore Career Day is held and businessmen are invited to speak on the advantages of their fields. This Career Day has proved to be of great help to the students.

Although very busy with studies, there was always time for the social aspects of college life. The Mixers and the Sno-Ball were occasions to meet new people and enjoy old friendships. One of the highlights of the year was the Sophomore Class Party which was very successful and through which greater class unity was established.

The Sophomore Class as a unit, has been very helpful in promoting and encouraging the activities of the Commerce Council. It is our hope that their coming year will be as successful.

FRESHMAN CLASS

Usually the time of the Freshmen Class is spent in getting acquainted with college life. But this year's class has proven itself to be one of the school's most outstanding freshman classes.

This was the first class to enter a float in the annual parade. It took many long nights of work but by working together they created an outstanding float.

Another example of the cooperation and unity within this class was the Class Party which proved to be one of the year's social highlights.

This class has shown an amazing amount of enthusiasm by members participating not only in immediate class activities but in the activities of the school. We hope that they will continue to work as a class and that their spirit of cooperation will continue on throughout their days at Loyola.

COMMERCE COUNCIL

In the College of Commerce, the student governing body is known as the Commerce Council. Dean J. Raymond Sheriff serves as its Moderator. The Council's purpose is to develop self government by organizing and systematizing student activities on an all-college basis; to stimulate inter-class relations; and to foster such other matters which will benefit the college as a whole. The membership of the Council is composed of the elected officers of the four classes. The presidents of each class fill the various offices of the Council itself. Again this year the Council provided the student body with many services, activities and a well rounded social calendar. Among these were: the first Mixer of the year, the off campus Sno-Ball, the Variety Show, a combined student directory, a special Freshman Orientation, active support of the Union Fair, the Honors Day Dinner Dance, and this publication — the 1957 Towers. Truly the Commerce Council is one of the outstanding student government organizations at Loyola.

Council members planning the Sno-Ball: James Sebesta — President, Harry Fremgen — Vice-President, Thomas Split.

The many schools and colleges of Loyola University are united by one student governing body, the Loyola Union. All students who have registered and are in academic residence in any of the schools or colleges of the University are members of the Loyola Union.

The purpose of the Union is to foster the mental, moral and physical development of the students of the various colleges, to support student activities, and to develop friendly relations between the students and the faculty.

Each year the Union sponsors the Fall Frolic, at which Miss Varsity is crowned, and the Mardi Gras Dance both of which were held off-campus. This year the Union sponsored the first Charity Day where the students lent their free services to various charitable services in Chicago. Again this year, the Union sponsored the annual Fair on the Lake Shore Campus. The purpose of this event was to raise funds for use by the Union in improving student facilities on all campuses. The activities of the Union are many and varied and are undertaken to fill the needs and desires of the students.

The Blue Key National Honor Fraternity was founded at the University of Florida in 1924. Since that time its growth has been phenomenal and it has come to be accepted as the leadership equivalent of scholarly Phi Beta Kappa. The membership now totals more than 35,000 and every state of the Union boasts one or more of its 100 chapters. The Loyola Chapter of Blue Key was established in 1926 and has functioned for many years as an honorary leadership organization. Many of the University's most distinguished alumni and faculty are members.

Two years ago the local Chapter underwent a reorganization. It reorganized as a service group designed to assist the administration and faculty and to encourage and help lead all student organizations. The success of this experiment has been outstanding.

Membership in Blue Key is by invitation only. Pledges are accepted during their junior or senior year. Students eligible are those men of required scholastic standing who have been most active in extracurricular activities and have maintained a continuous record of unselfish service to the University and its student body.

ALPHA DELTA GAMMA

Since its inception at Loyola University in 1924, Alpha Delta Gamma Fraternity has grown to be the largest national Catholic Fraternity, with chapters from coast to coast. This year is a very special one for the Alpha Chapter, for the national convention will be held in Chicago in the latter part of August.

Though it is primarily a social organization, its members are strongly encouraged to participate in all the activities of the University regardless of whether they be social, academic, cultural, or religious. The policy of the fraternity is one of full participation in school affairs. This indisputable fact can be evidenced by the numerous positions held by the brothers in the different organizations at Loyola.

Besides active participation in school affairs, Alpha Delta Gamma has striven to promote the name of the University by sponsoring such an activity as the Annual Loyola Orphan's Day. It is a day set aside by the fraternities and sororities at Loyola in which they demonstrate their true bond of fraternalism with those less fortunate. The fraternity looks forward to cooperating more fully with the Student Union's new ideas and developments in the future.

Alpha Kappa Psi, oldest professional fraternity in the field of business administration, was founded in 1904 at New York University. Gamma Iota Chapter was installed at Loyola in 1952 as the seventy-fifth chapter of the national fraternity.

In keeping with its high ideals of furthering the interests of its members, the chapter is primarily concerned with presenting the latest available information on practices and theories in the business field. Consequently, this year speakers have discussed such topics as the national debt, business and politics, and new tax legislation, while industrial tours and short movies have helped to broaden the members' scope of business. Furthermore, Alpha Kappa Psi, in the belief that it should improve the position of commerce in the present world, sponsored a Career Day in April for the Commerce sophomores.

The chapter also provides for the social interests of its members. Such events as the New Year's Eve and St. Patrick's Day parties help increase the bond of fellowship between the members and provide them with relaxing entertainment. The climax of the social calendar takes place with the annual Golf Outing in June.

In helping to develop Ignatius Loyola's "whole man", Gamma Iota Chapter sponsors a communion breakfast for members and their fathers while attending Mass in a body.

DELTA SIGMA PI

Delta Sigma Pi is a professional fraternity in the field of Commerce and Business Administration. Deltasigs from 96 undergraduate chapters and 36 alumni chapters will celebrate the 50th anniversary of the fraternity's founding at the national convention to be held in New York this summer. The Gamma Pi Chapter was installed at Loyola in September, 1950.

The purpose of Delta Sigma Pi is to foster the study of business in universities; to encourage scholarship, social activity, and the association of students for their mutual advancement through research and practice; to promote a closer affiliation between the commercial world and students of commerce; to further a higher standard of commercial ethics and culture, and to promote the civic and commercial welfare of the community.

In accord with its professional aspect, Delta Sigma Pi offered many tours, speakers, and movies on business and industry to its members and other students of the university.

A highlight of the year was the annual Rose of Deltasig Contest in which ten Loyola coeds took part. This year's Rose, Miss Dottie Rosenbeck was crowned at the annual Rose Mixer.

Kappa Beta Gamma is a national social sorority founded at Marquette in 1917. The Epsilon Chapter is located at Loyola University.

When looking back over the past year, the Kappas have many pleasant memories. First, there was the rushing, a vital part of every sorority. Throughout the year the date parties provided much fun, especially the Bermuda Short Party held on the coldest night of the year. The Dinner Dance, the Spring Formal, the Mother-Daughter Day, the Sorority parties and picnics filled out the crowded social calendar.

Undoubtedly, the highpoint of the year was the National Convention held at the Palmer House at which the Loyola Chapter was hostess. The social events of the convention included a Reception Tea, a luncheon, a dance and a Communion Breakfast. Amidst all this activity there somehow remained enough time to schedule the all important business meetings.

This is a year the actives of Kappa Beta Gamma can point to with pride and with pleasure, having the assurance that even greater things lie in the future.

PI ALPHA LAMBDA

Pi Alpha Lambda, with seventy-nine members in its thirty second year, is presently the largest social fraternity at Loyola. Under the guidance of its moderator, Dr. Paul Hummert, they follow their ideals of promoting Christian morals and high scholastic standards so as to foster the aims and interests of Loyola.

The Pi Alphas have maintained many annual social and religious activities. Each year the members of the fraternity attend a closed retreat at Barrington, Illinois. Holy Week Services and a Family Communion Sunday are among the other religious activities which the fraternity sponsors.

Among its social activities, the fraternity features monthly closed parties for its members, formal dances and an open mixer.

Last December the fraternity sponsored the first Intercollegiate Dance in the schools's history, to which many Midwestern Colleges and Universities were invited. The affair proved to be a success and will probably become an annual attraction.

This Intercollegiate Dance and the Pi Alpha Lambda Yearbook are an indication that the fraternity is expanding in ideas as the University itself is expanding.

TAU DELTA PHI

Tau Delta Phi, a national social fraternity founded in 1910 at New York, established Tau Eta Chapter at Loyola in 1950. Although it contains the smallest membership of any of the fraternal organizations at Loyola, it proudly boasts some of the year's most outstanding accomplishments.

The Tau Delts opened the school year with the first "Freshman Welcoming Dance". This was followed by another milestone, the establishment of an annual "Faculty Cocktail Party". But the Tau Delts greatest accomplishment thus far has been the opening of the first and only undergraduate fraternity house at Loyola in a great many years. Their house not only provides a residence and meeting place but also has been the scene of many social events as: the "Treasure Hunt", the parties after the basketball games, the Homecoming Party, and the cabaret style New Years Eve Party.

Quoting the Loyola News, "Tau Delta Phi has established what may well prove to be the biggest and most forward moving step since undergraduate fraternities were founded at Loyola. Through the initiative and ideals of these 18 men, a new concept of fraternal life has at last made its welcome appearance."

Loyola's Epsilon Kappa Chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon national fraternity is in its first year on the campus. Formerly the University Club, this organization was initiated May 13, 1956 as the 132nd chapter of Tau Kappa Epsilon, one of the three largest social fraternities in the country.

TKE has enjoyed a position in school affairs pre-eminent among many active organizations at Loyola. They sponsored the first "Ugly Mixer" and its corresponding "Ugly Man of the Year Contest", the first annual inter-fraternity greased pig contest, the first annual Coed Tea, and the traditional University Club St. Patrick's Day Dance. This chapter has contributed to the support of all school functions.

It is the policy of the Tekes to promote new activities and enable its members to enjoy a year-round social program which is carried on not only within the fraternity but in the social and scholastic extracurricular activities of Loyola as well.

THETA PHI ALPHA

Theta Phi Alpha was founded in 1912 on the campus of the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor under the guidance of Bishop Edward D. Kelly. The sorority was founded to advance the education, religious and social interests of its members. In 1951, the sorority was accepted into full membership of the National Panhellenic Conference whose goals are the furthering of the ideals of sorority life among its member sororities. Upsilon Chapter was initiated at Loyola in March of 1942.

Upsilon's moderator is Miss Mary Lou McPartlin, head of the Home Study Department. Upsilon's Chaplain is Father Lester Evett, S. J.

This year Theta Phi has won two coveted awards. "Scene in Siam" was awarded the best organization act trophy at the Annual Arts and Commerce Variety Show. The chapter also received a citation as the organization having the highest scholastic average at Loyola.

Some of Theta's annual events include the Foreign Student Tea, the Thanksgiving Day Food Drive and the White Rose Ball.

SIGMA PI ALPHA

Sigma Pi Alpha is an undergraduate social fraternity, which was founded in 1932 by Louis Potempa. At that time its membership was restricted to men of Polish extraction; however, in 1948 Sigma Pi Alpha removed this restriction and offered membership to all qualifying male students.

This fraternity sponsors a variety of events. Each year the members assemble for a closed retreat and later in the year, on Memorial Day, they offer a Mass for their deceased alumni.

On the social side, Sigma Pi Alpha presents such affairs as a dinner-dance, mixer, parties and smokers. Its most celebrated event is its off-campus Spring Nocturn Dance. This welcomed occasion is highlighted by the presentation of the "Fraterni Man of the Year" award to Loyola's outstanding student fraternity leader.

The Coed Club is the largest women's organization at Loyola. Its membership includes women from the Colleges of Arts and Sciences, Nursing and Commerce. This Club serves the University through its many functions as the Freshman Welcome Tea and the Senior Farewell Banquet which are open to all University women.

In the fall, the Coed Club sponsors a card party and fashion show, organized by the members to finance the activities for the remainder of the year. Following this was the highlight of the year — the Christmas Formal.

In the spring, the officers of the Club are elected. Together with the moderator, Miss Mariette LeBlanc, they form the Board of Governors.

For the past several years, the most outstanding feature of the Club has been the "Big Sister" plan. This plan aids women students in adjusting to college life.

Mary Whalen, Secretary; Mary Pat Gibbons, Treasurer; Miss LeBlanc, Moderator; Greta Olson, Vice-President; Pat McGrady, President.

MARKETING CLUB

The Marketing Club's activities this year have included periodic meetings with speakers who are experts in the field of Marketing, field trips to locations of interest, and "Kaffe Klatches" where the members of the faculty and the Marketing Club meet to discuss their problems. Through these activities the Marketing Club provides its members with the exceptional opportunity for personal contacts with other individuals engaged in similar study of marketing problems. The guest speakers acquaint the members with the current ideas and needs of marketing and give them a concept of their future in a marketing career.

To enable its members to learn the function of marketing processed in production, distribution, and promotion, the Marketing Club arranges field trips to firms engaged in one or more marketing activities.

These field trips also stimulate the interest of members by giving them the opportunity to see marketing functions in actual operation.

During the past year, the Marketing Club with the aid of Dr. Kenneth B. Haas, Chairman of the Department of Marketing, sponsored its "Kaffe Klatch". This was a splendid opportunity for the members and the faculty to meet over a cup of coffee and discuss their problems and ideas in regard to the Marketing Department and marketing in general.

Through its affiliation with the American Marketing Association, the club endeavors to acquaint its members further with current happenings in the field. Each member receives the official publication of the association, the "Marketing Newsletter".

Members of the Marketing Club assemble to discuss the possibility of a field trip.

ACCOUNTING CLUB

Hank Blazej, Treasurer; Tom Nolan, Commerce Council Representative; Charles Sexton, President.

The Loyola University Accounting Club was founded in 1949 and since that time has broadened both the scope and quality of its activities to appeal to each student of accounting.

The Accounting Club is very active through the academic year and is dedicated to acquainting the students of accounting with the practical application of accounting principles. The seventy members comprising the club have heard speakers on the following subjects: Airline Accounting, Industrial Accounting and the path to an executive position, the GAO, Air Force Auditin, and the Electronic Computer.

In November, the senior members of the club enjoyed a very informative tour through the Chicago offices of Ernest & Ernest, a large national public accounting firm.

ECONOMICS FINANCE CLUB

With the reorganization of the Economics Society in 1946, and the merger with the Finance Department in 1956, The Economics — Finance Club has grown along with the tremendous advances made by Loyola University. This club is affiliated with the National American Finance Association and has obtained national recognition.

Dr. Sylvester M. Frizol serves as faculty moderator for this club.

Discussions on the present socio-economic evils and practical business problems were presented by the club to further the advancement of the students in their major fields of concentration.

This year, the activities of the club have been greatly expanded. Field trips and guest speakers, including a series of lectures, were provided for the benefit of all commerce students. These activities have led to a better understanding of the problems in the fields of Economics and Finance.

Standing: Jerry Riordan, President; Ed Dillman, Vice-President; Dick Nagle, Treasurer; Steve Strempsi, Secretary. Seated: Dr. Theodosi A. Mogilnitsky, Chairman of Economics — Finance Department.

The Economics — Finance Club members discuss plans for the coming year.

MANAGEMENT CLUB

The Society for Advancement of Management, the recognized national professional organization of management in industry, commerce, government and education, and the pioneer in management philosophy has been dedicated to the promotion and advancement of the art and science of management ever since the original Taylor Society was established in 1912.

This year has been a particularly good one for the Loyola Chapter of SAM. In addition to having had several top ranking business men from the Chicago area speak before the group, they have toured many of the large industrial plants in the Middle West.

The program of the Loyola Chapter has been developed to further the growth of all students of their academic major by stimulating their thinking and widening their knowledge. If the past can be taken as being indicative of what is yet to come, next year will be truly outstanding.

SAM business meetings provide the members with the chance of discussing problems, policies and methods of industry and management.

Joe Donnelly, Treasurer; Mort Sullivan, President; Judy Wolfgram, Secretary; Sue Sheridan, Secretary; Sue Giometh, Secretary; Colette Gorey, Secretary; Pat Culhane, Retiring Union Representative; Wayne Lowe, Union Representative.

HISTORICAL SOCIETY

The Historical Society is the largest undergraduate organization at Loyola. Membership is open to both the Commerce and Arts Colleges. Under the able direction of its moderator, Dr. Kenneth Jackson, the society has grown both in size and prestige.

Most prominent of the organization's many activities during the school year were the excellent speeches given by various public figures. The Society heard such distinguished persons as Father Harold Rigney, Senator Everett Dirksen, and Dr. Walter Johnson of the University of Chicago. In sponsoring these programs, the Society considered not only the interests of students of history, but the interests of all students.

Because of the Hungarian crisis, the Society also sponsored a Hungarian Folk Dance and donated the profits to the Hungarian Relief Fund.

Dancers entertain the large group at the Society's Christmas Program.

The Human Relations Club, formally organized in June, 1956, has conducted a series of programs dealing with Trumbull Park, narcotics, labor-management, and juvenile delinquency.

Although organized under the sponsorship of the Sociology Department, its membership is open to all students interested in analyzing and understanding the society in which he lives. Its programs are comprehensive and well rounded in keeping with this goal.

This Club sponsored discussions by such persons as Mr. Saadat Hasan, head of the Arab Information Center; Mr. Frank Mitchell, head of the British Information Bureau; Mr. Isaac Daniel Urra, Vice-Consulate of Israel; Mr. Lloyd Davis, director of the Catholic Interracial Council of Chicago; and Fr. J. B. Gremillian, pastor of St. Joseph's Parish in Shreveport, Louisiana. In addition, the Club was represented by an act in the Variety Show.

The Monogram Club members discuss plans for their annual All-Sports Banquet.

The Monogram Club at its annual Communion Breakfast held at the Loyola Hall initiated fifteen new members. This now brings the number of "L" winners to the total of thirty.

Again this year the Monogram Club sponsored their annual All-Sports Banquet which was held in the Dormitory Hall. At this Banquet, Varsity Letters and Freshman Numerals were given in basketball, track, swimming and golf. These awards were presented by the respective coaches.

The officers have provided the leadership which has been responsible for the success of the Club. Bob Varallo serves as President, Bob Saddler as Vice-President and Bob Walsh as the Secretary-Treasurer. Rev. Cletus Artmann, S. J., the University Athletic Director, serves as Moderator for the Monogram Club.

SODALITY

Father Hogan; Father Garvey;
Eileen Peifer, Co-Prefect; James
Dempsey, Prefect.

The Sodality at Loyola is a religious body aiming at fostering in its members an ardent devotion, reverence, and filial love toward the Blessed Virgin Mary. Through this devotion its members are sincerely bent on sanctifying themselves and their neighbors, and in defending the Church of Jesus Christ.

Some of the main activities of the Sodality are the meetings held every Friday after Mass in Room 201 of Lewis Towers and the monthly Sunday meetings. These meetings, open to the entire student body, provide the opportunity for partaking in discussions and hearing talks intended to increase devotion to our Blessed Mother and her Son.

Throughout the school year, the Sodality office, Room 319, is open for Sodalists to spend their free time or to consult with Father Hogan. Another feature of Room 319 is the Curbstone Confessional.

Rev. Joseph Hogan, S. J., is the student Counselor and moderator of the Sodality at Lewis Towers. He also holds the rank of Lieutenant Colonel in the Army Reserve and serves as the Chaplain for Loyola's R.O.T.C. Unit.

Father Hogan chats with some of the students in the Sodality Office.

The Army Reserve Officers' Training Corps, brought to Loyola in 1948, has steadily grown, and is presently the second largest Senior ROTC Unit in the State of Illinois.

The primary purpose of the ROTC is to produce commissioned officers for the Organized Reserve Corps. The Reserve Officers' Training Corps provides the training which enables Loyola's graduates to take their rightful place in the defense of their country. This course affords a practical laboratory where students learn to receive and to give orders, to organize, to cooperate, to handle men, and to make decisions. This training develops these basic personal qualifications which are as essential in peace as in actual war.

Summer Camp is the concentrated laboratory course in military science and tactics which usually follows completion of the first year of the advanced course. Marches, bivouacs, map problems, demonstrations, and use of bayonets, rifles, tanks, mortars and machine guns are among the various types of training.

Thus, the ROTC Training provides its graduates with the broad education necessary for them to take their place as leaders in the community, in the service of their country, and in civilian life.

Dick Spillane, President of the Gold Torch Club, outlines plans for the Military Ball at a regular Thursday afternoon meeting.

THE GOLD TORCH CLUB

The Gold Torch military-social Club, moved forward this year by taking extra-curricular R.O.T.C. groups into its organization such as the Drill Team and the Rifle Team.

Highpoint of the Gold Torch's activities this year was the annual Military Ball held on February 22nd in the Grand Ballroom of the Shoreland Hotel. Music was provided by Johnny Gilbert and his band.

In a queenship contest held in connection with this Ball, Miss Mary Rohner, a student of Mundelein College, was crowned Queen. Miss Rohner received the rank of honorary Colonel in the Corps. She was escorted by Cadet Colonel Ronald Pawl, Student Commander of Loyola's R.O.T.C. Regiment.

Among the dignitaries present at the Ball this year were the Very Rev. James F. Maguire, S. J., president of Loyola University, and Brig. General Hiram D. Ives, Chief of the Illinois Military District.

Late in the year, a new constitution for the organization was drawn up and ratified. The internal structure was changed to accommodate the club's growth and more meetings of the entire membership were planned for next year.

The 1957 TOWERS is the fourth of a series of yearbooks published by the Commerce Council for the students of the College of Commerce. It is a publication for the students, produced by the students. A Commerce yearbook has become a tradition and is an example of the initiative and the leadership of the students of the College of Commerce.

The staff of this year's yearbook has been very fortunate for they were able to benefit from the experience of the last three yearbooks. Using this experience, we have attempted to make this the best yearbook yet.

Some of the main changes this year were: the changing of the underclass mug pictures to informal group pictures taken at various locations at Lewis Towers. Another big change was in the layout of this publication. The various organizations were given more space and pictures were taken on a more informal basis. All in all, it was the purpose of this book to show this year's activities in an informal way.

Listed on these two pages are the people who produced this 1957 TOWERS. It was through their time and effort that we were able to provide the Commerce College, and you the students of that College, with this yearbook. To this staff we extend our thanks for having spent long and tedious hours in compiling this book. We hope that their efforts will serve as the basis for further achievements in producing future yearbooks.

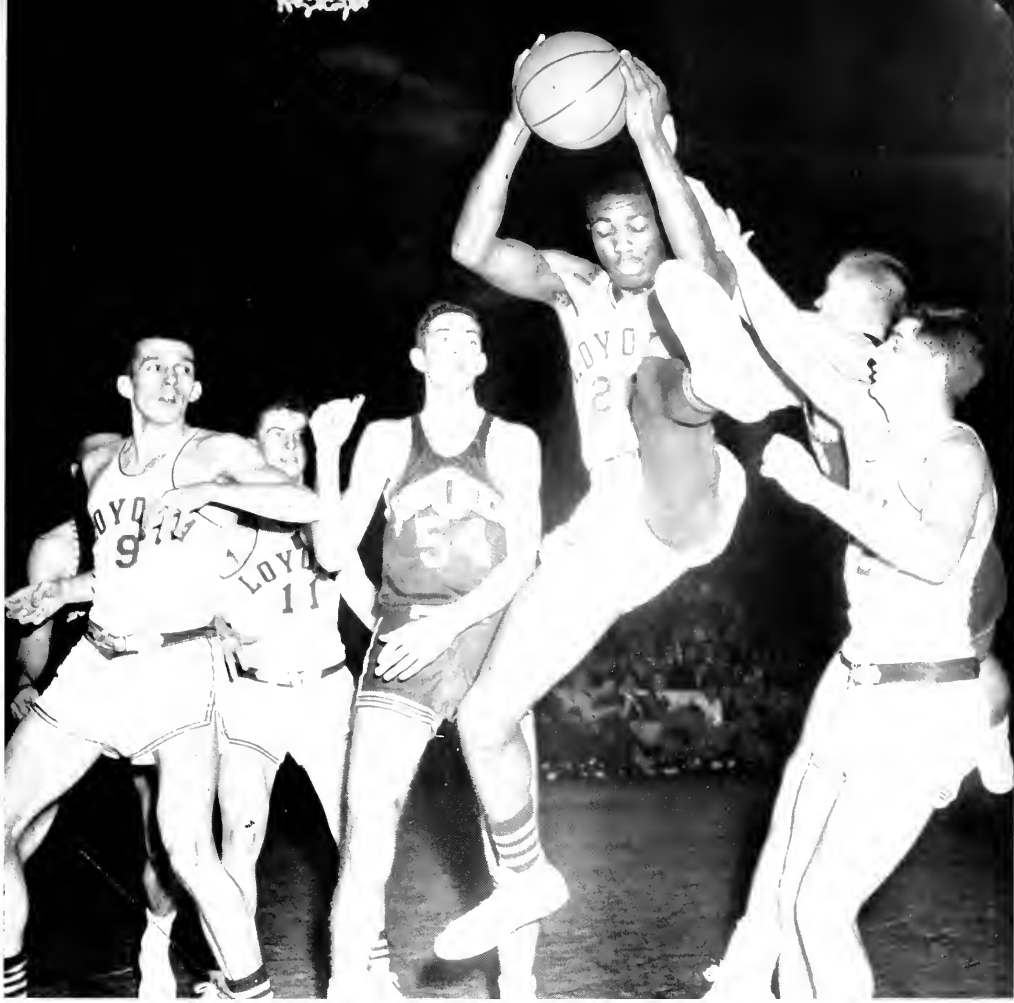

This yearbook was a hard job, but the staff feels that the personal satisfaction derived from such an endeavor is a sufficient reward for their efforts. We sincerely hope that the efforts of all the people concerned has helped to make 1957 a memorable year for the students of the College of Commerce.

Loyola's cage team finished out the season with four consecutive wins to give the Ramblers their best season in five years with a record of 14 wins and 10 losses.

These victories at the close of the year lifted the team from a five-game losing streak and lead to a new scoring record, which was accomplished in the season's finale against John Carroll.

In the final analysis Loyola defeated some teams which they did not figure to beat and lost games to teams which seemed to be easy prey for Coach Ireland's five. The fact that the Ramblers were able to rise to the occasion against such teams as Santa Clara, Marquette, Omaha, and Washington is due to hustle and spirit that was exhibited by the inexperienced but game Loyolans.

Alumni Gym was the site of 10 of the victories. The Ramblers were able to win only two out of six at the Stadium and two out of eight on the road.

The highlight of the season was the double defeat of Marquette. Loyola's traditional rival, Marquette meet the Ramblers at Milwaukee Arena and fell before the high-spirited, hustling Chicagoans in a bitterly contested battle.

LOYOLA RAMBLERS

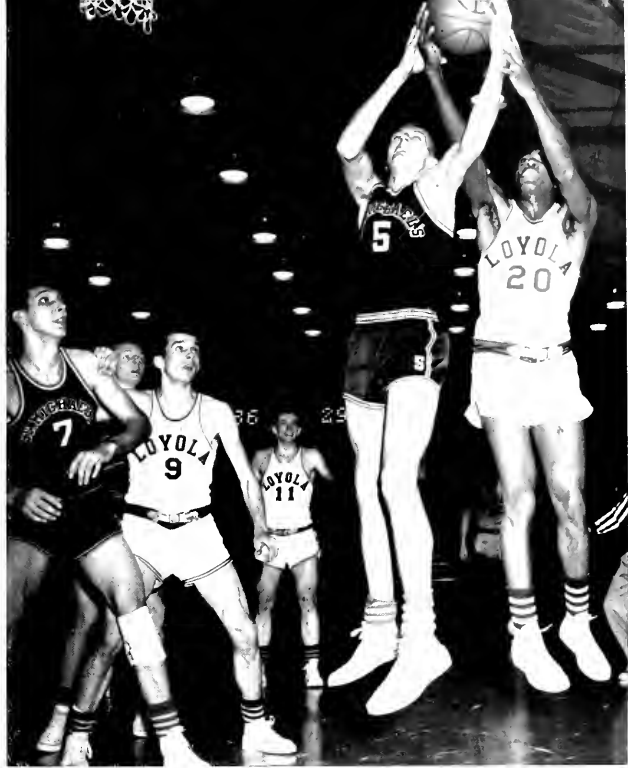

The second meeting was played at the Stadium and found Loyola trailing at the intermission, only to bounce back and hand the Warriors their second defeat of the season at the hands of Loyola.

Loyola scored a total of 1788 points for a 74.5 average while the opponents averaged 73.4 points in 24 contests. The Ramblers' field goal percentage was 36.1 per cent, compared to 37.3 per cent for its opponents. From the free throw line Loyola outdealt the opposition with a 67.6 percentage to 66.4 per cent for the opposing teams. In the rebound department the Ramblers pilfered 721 offensively and 836 on the defensive boards for a total of 1557 or an average of 42.4 rebounds per game.

Loyola outshot its opponents from the floor in 13 of the 24 games and split even in free throw shooting. The Maroon and Gold led their opponents at half time and went on to win in 12 of the games as compared to no losses after holding the lead at the intermission.

Paul Krueker led the team in scoring with 377 points for a 15.7 average. Krueker's 83.5 per cent on the free throw line was tops for the team and among the top twenty in the nation in this department.

Frank Gretkowski (5) of St. Michaels and Art McZier (20) of Loyola fight for rebound as Loyola's Jim DeWalt and Paul Sheedy (11) watch.

SWIMMING TEAM

The swimming team for the 1956-57 season was a team which was of very high quality but of very low quantity. In the final count the swimming team had only 15 members.

The teams record for the year was 4-9, which is far below their usual successful season. The reason that the team was on the losing end of a number of matches was that they were only strong in two events, breaststroke and free style.

Led by Co-Captains Ray VanDeWalle, Don Veverka and Bob Walsh, the team lost a number of close meets and yet defeated some of the top teams in the swimming circuit.

One accomplishment was that Junior breast stroker Ray Van DeWalle was invited to swim in the NCAA National competition in North Carolina.

Bob Walsh, team co-captain, about to take the plungs.

Two mile relay team: Lou Kujawinski, Bob Saddler, Brian Shutts, Mike Burke.

One of the hardest working teams at Loyola is the Track Team. They are ample proof that hard work pays off for they have had a very successful season.

In the Central AAU Meet Loyola was very successful. Lou Kujawinski paced the Ramblers in winning the 1000 yard race.

The mile relay team, of whom Loyola has been very proud in the last few years, has had some bad breaks. In the Daily News Relays the team was disqualified because of miscalculations in passing the baton. This years mile relay team was composed of Co-Captains Pete Wall and Bob Saddler, Dick Lahart and Jack Kiley. During the season the team set two new records but were seriously handicapped when Mike Burke injured his ankle.

TRACK TEAM

The loss of Burke will leave Jerry Wieland, track coach, without the use of a fourth man for the mile relay squad. Thus Wieland will be hoping that Burke will be ready to go when the outdoor season opens.

Probably the best performance of the year was in the Cleveland Knights of Columbus Meet in which the Harriers finished second to some of the track world's toughest competition.

The outdoor season opens late in April against Bradley. Coach Wieland's high optimism in Saddler and Kujawinski and hopes that next years team, boasted by underclassmen, will be a tough team to defeat.

Saddler leads in the two mile relay.

MISS VARSITY

Jean Krug was crowned Miss Varsity at the annual Fall Frolic Dance. Jean was sponsored by Pi Alpha Lambda and was chosen by popular student vote. She was chosen not only as a beauty queen but as a true representation of the best in Loyola's coeds. Jean served as the official representative of the Union at all school activities during the year.

On Friday of each week, all Catholic students of the College attend holy Mass at the Holy Name Cathedral near Lewis Towers. At these weekly Masses, students have the opportunity to receive the sacraments, to benefit from a University sermon, and to maintain their interest in the missions.

The Chapel of the Sacred Heart, Room S01, is open on all class days for private devotions. A student Mass is offered daily and Holy Communion is distributed at times convenient for the students. Confessions are heard daily.

With Best Wishes for Continuing Success
